Stephen's Pick for August

S A N S VIRGINIA BEACH 2014

www.sans.org/event/virginia-beach-2014

Please join me in Virginia Beach, August 18-29 for one of SANS most popular events. SANS Virginia Beach 2014 offers an extra week of training, which means we may not have to turn anyone away. Choose from top-rated SANS IT security, security management, and computer forensics courses and use what you learn in the classroom as soon as you return to the office.

Choose from the following course line-up:

SEC401: Security Essentials Bootcamp Style - Keith Palmgren

SEC503: Intrusion Detection In-Depth - Mike Poor

SEC504: Hacker Techniques, Exploits & Incident Handling - Kevin Fiscus

SEC560: Network Penetration Testing and Ethical Hacking - Ed Skoudis

SEC579: Virtualization and Private Cloud Security - Paul A. Henry

SEC660: Advanced Penetration Testing, Exploit Writing, and Ethical Hacking - Stephen Sims

FOR408: Windows Forensic Analysis - Mike Pilkington

FOR508: Advanced Computer Forensic Analysis and Incident Response - Rob Lee

FOR610: Reverse-Engineering Malware: Malware Analysis Tools and Techniques - Anuj Soni

MGT512: SANS Security Leadership Essentials For Managers with Knowledge Compression - Stephen Northcutt and David Hoelzer

SPECIAL: NetWars - Tournament - Tim Medin

SPECIAL: NetWars - Tournament - Jeff McJunkin

SANS Virginia Beach 2014 also features bonus session such as "Cloud IR and Forensics", presented by Paul A. Henry and "Who's Watching the Watchers?" by Mike Poor. I will also be presenting a new SANS @Night talk, "Investing for Retirement". For the last year, I have been looking at the options to generate enough monthly income to retire on and have found the results rather surprising. This talk summarizes my research, it will cover many of the financial vehicles that are available and for each we will cover the pitch, the catch, and my best assessment on how to use (or avoid) that vehicle.

SANS training is well known for being relevant and pragmatic. Our award-winning faculty has proven they understand the challenges you face on a daily basis. Their real-world experience increases the practical value of the course material. This event has a history of filling up quickly, so register today to join me at SANS Virginia Beach 2014!
